OPEN HONOR SLAYING TRIAL

POLITICS, RACIAL FEELING, MIXED IN HONOLULU MURDER

Insanity May Prove Defense Of Four Accused

HONOLULU, April 4.—An attack on the wife of a young naval officer, the murder of a native accused of participating in the attack, racial feeling, and Hawaiian politics were well mixed today in the trial of an American matron and three navy men accused of murder in Honolulu's "honor slaying."

The defendants, Mrs. Granville Roland Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and enlisted men Edward J. Lord and Albert O. Jones were defended by a brilliant legal staff headed by Clarence Darrow.

They were indicted for the second degree murder of Joe Kahahawai, a native abducted and killed January 9. He and four other men at the time awaited a second trial on charges of having attacked Lt. Massie's wife.

The defendants have neither denied nor admitted their guilt. The police claimed, soon after the murder, that they had a string of circumstantial evidence against the defendants, but no witnesses to the crime have been found.

There have been many theories as to what happened between the time Kahahawai was enticed into an automobile in front of the Hall of Justice, where a white man showed him a document which looked like a summons, and the time his body was found. He was found in the automobile near Kalia Road. Three defendants were in the car; the fourth was stationed outside Mrs. Fortescue's residence. Lieut. Massie is expected to outline a defense of accidental homicide. The defense may plead "alarm clock insanity," that under the strain of believing the Hawaiian guilty of the attack on Mrs. Massie, the defendants lost their reason temporarily.

The slaying of Kahahawai and subsequent charges that conditions in the "port of the Pacific" were not safe for white women focused world attention on Honolulu. The background of sensational events there reached from the depths of Honolulu's underworld to the uppermost level of American society.

Mrs. Massie, formerly Thalia Fortescue, was attacked one night last September in the Waikiki Beach section of Honolulu. She was brutally and criminally assaulted. Five men were arrested and identified by Mrs. Massie. One was Kahahawai.

The five men were released on bail after the jury disagreed at their trial. A second hearing was scheduled. Meanwhile feeling between the foreign residents and natives grew with other attacks on white women. Sailors and natives clashed.

An undercurrent of bad feeling broke with the kidnapping and murder of Joe Kahahawai. The Hawaiian had been to the federal building to make the report required under his bail provision. He was coming down the steps of the building with a male relative when, according to the relative, an elderly white woman pointed at Joe and said, "That's the man."

A white man came forward, according to the police version of the abduction, and showed Joe a document stamped with large, official looking seals. The man told Joe to get in an automobile. He did. The Hawaiian and two white men drove away. The woman followed in another car.

According to the police story, they found evidence that Kahahawai was killed at Mrs. Fortescue's home, that his body was wrapped in a sheet and placed in a car, and that his killers intended to throw the body into a geyser where it never would have been found.

MORE MINES CLOSE; 5,000 JOIN STRIKE

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., April 4.—More than 5,000 men were added to the strike movement in the eastern Ohio coal fields today as all but four mines in the area suspended operations.

Several operators including the Hanna company of Cleveland announced they would not attempt to fight the strike and their mines would remain closed until the movement had spent itself.

The new recruits were inspired to walk out today by 2,500 pickets who, led by brass bands, paraded before the pits in a show of strength.

The strike area was tranquil except at New Lafferty where pickets fired several shots in the air, celebrating the walk out. Ohio national guard observers were on duty to report the situation to Governor George White.

THIRTEEN KILLED IN TRAFFIC AND OTHER ACCIDENTS IN OHIO

HE GETS CHECK

An apology and a check for $2,500 from a former president is the satisfaction gained by Lewis Tebbetts, St. Louis insurance man, above, as the result of his damage suit against Calvin Coolidge. Tebbetts contends his reputation was injured by general remarks Mr. Coolidge made during a radio address, discussing insurance salesmen, in sending the check for Tebbetts' legal expenses, that "no personal offense was intended." Tebbetts has withdrawn his suit.

GENTLEMAN BANDIT ADMITS ROBBERY OF BANKS OF $100,000

"Lone Wolf" Claims Woman Cause Of Downfall

CHICAGO, April 4.—An amazing story of a "gentleman" bank robber's career was told today by police after they said they had obtained a confession of fourteen bank robberies totalling nearly $100,000 from Donald Loftus, 30.

The prisoner, suave-mannered and handsome, blamed his capture on women, police who described him as genuine "lone wolf" declared. Chief of Detectives William Schoemaker said the single-handed robber's exploits had little parallel in police records.

Loftus readily told how he moved from city to city on becoming tired of women whom in some instances he married. When arrested in a luxuriously furnished apartment at South Bend, Ind., he was posing as a wealthy eastern broker.

The holdups for which solution was claimed by police were largely in Illinois and California but included a "down town bank in Cincinnati" with loot of $4,000.

Arrest of Loftus resulted when a mother complained to police of Loftus' attentions to her daughter. Officers found him living in a rich suite. Scores of suits of clothes were in his wardrobe. He had an expensive automobile and seven tennis matched sets of golf clubs.

All of the robberies with one or two exceptions were carried off alone.

"There never was anything much to it," police quoted Loftus as saying. "I'd walk in alone and depend on my two .45 caliber revolvers. But I never did any shooting."

In one case, he said, a clerk was shot when his gun went off accidentally. Witnesses in five of the raids viewed the prisoner and identified him.

THREE FOUND SHOT TO DEATH

MONTCLAIR, N. J., April 4.—Mrs. Raymond B. Fosdick, wife of a prominent New York attorney and their two children were found shot to death in their home here today, according to police reports.

Six Persons Perish In Flames After Auto Collision

Unusual accidents, combined with traffic fatalities, cost the lives of many Ohioans over the week-end, a United Press check-up showed today.

At least thirteen persons were killed.

Six persons, members of two families, were burned to death in an automobile collision near Toledo. The dead: Reinhart A. Lieska, 26; his wife, Jessie Lieska, 23; their daughter, Lois Ann, 3; Donald Tompkins, 17; Gordon Tompkins, 19, and Howard Tompkins, 21.

When he fell into a milk cooling tank and struck his head, William Ganders, 48, winner of bravery citations during the World War, was drowned near Elyria.

A small electric heater which fell into a bathtub in which he was bathing caused death by electrocution of John Francis McEaney, Jr., 14 of Cleveland.

The body of Mrs. Ida M. Osgood, 50, mother of eleven children, was taken from the Tuscarawas River near New Philadelphia.

James B. McConnon, 64, was drowned in the Mad River at Dayton.

Shirley Schulte, 5, of Reading, O., was fatally hurt when she fell down a stairway while playing in a vacant house.

Mrs. Howard Gatewood, 49, of Chanderierville, died from a bullet wound in her chest.

When struck by two automobiles near her home at Genoa, O., Mrs. Elizabeth Long, 65, was killed.

TOLEDO, O., April 4.—Six victims of an automobile accident which wiped out one family and part of another near here Saturday night were to be buried together today in Baker Cemetery near Delta, O.

The six burned to death within a few minutes after their sedan had crashed into the rear of a truck. The impact threw flaming gasoline over the occupants, burning all but one of them beyond recognition and defeating the efforts of rescuers.

The dead are:

Reinhart A. Lieska, 26, farmer, of near Lyons, O., Jessie Lieska, 23, his wife, Lois Ann Lieska, 3, their only child; Donald Tompkins, 17, Delta, Brother of Mrs. Lieska; Gordon Tompkins, 19, a brother; Howard Tompkins, 21, a brother.

Reinhart Lieska was driving the car.

The truck, laden with hogs and other livestock, was parked partly on the road near the gas station of Justin Bartlett, two miles west of Chagarah, O.

Lieska apparently attempted to pass the truck, but seeing his way blocked by an approaching car had headed for the ditch. Instead he rammed the rear of the truck virtually demolishing his car and enveloping it and the rear of the truck in flames.

Mr. Bartlett and the drivers of the truck, John Drabek, 23, of Holland, O., and Roy Nigemeyer, 34, of Sylvania, tried to extinguish the flames. Falling in that, they managed to throw a rope around the body of one of the boys and drag him from the flames. Two other bodies were similarly recovered before the flames abated.

Alumni of Ohio Wesleyan, who knew "Doc" Welch as a traditional hero of the school, especially mourned his death.

Welch played football on the Wesleyan football team of 1896, coached by Fielding Yost, which trounced the University of Michigan and was considered the best fullback ever produced by any Ohio college.

SENATE WETS START MOVEMENT FOR BEER TAX TO AID REVENUE

Denounce Wort Tax;
Rallying Behind
Forlorn Hope

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Senate anti-prohibitionists were rallying today behind a beer-for-revenue program as the billion dollar tax bill was received from the house.

It is a forlorn hope, but wet organizations have seized upon the tax issue and set their mimeographs to spinning out propaganda in behalf of beer. The senate beer bloc will follow their lead. Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, heads the senate beer tax movement. He estimates that a tax of six cents a pint on legalized beer—the same tax now levied on a package of twenty cigarettes—would produce approximately $1,000,000,000 of revenue. That alone would almost balance the budget.

"The Crusaders," militant anti-prohibition organization, opened the debate today with a plea for beer and more revenue and a denunciation of the heavy tax levied by the house on wort, which is the basis of home brew.

"Congress, though refusing to tax beer in an honest manner," said the organization, "places a tax on wort, which is a product of brewing and can be used only to manufacture beer. The American taxpayer is being lured to make an Anti-Saloon League holiday."

Beer presents the lighter side of the tax picture as the senate finance committee prepares to begin hearings on the bill Wednesday. Congressional agreement to restore beer at this time would be scarcely more miraculous than the stroke of Moses' stick upon the rock to produce water.

Senate laborers with the tax bill do not begin auspiciously. The administration and house Democratic leaders still are contradicting each other over whether the bill and prospective economies will provide the $1,241,000,000 required to balance the budget. Speaker Garner insists that the tax bill as it passed the house put the treasury's books in order.

Senate Minority Leader Robinson has summoned his Democratic colleagues to meet early this week to decide party tax strategy. Republican leaders believe Secretary of Treasury Mills is correct in asserting the budget still is not balanced.

They expect to suggest additional revenue items. Democrats must decide whether they will accept this additional taxation.

Under the comparative strict rules of the house, it was possible to minimize tariff levies when were put in the bill in the guise of taxation. Only coal and oil received such protection.

Progressive Republicans are aligning behind a program to reduce the tax bill by some hundreds of millions which would be made up by a home issue. In other words, they are not balance the budget this year. In both parties, executive department economies, including the consolidation and abolition of various bureaus and agencies.

SENATE DEMANDS TO REDUCE SALARIES

COLUMBUS, O., April 4.—A resolution demanding that Governor White call another special session of the state legislature to reduce, within its power, the salaries of elected state, county and other officials "in keeping with present day conditions" was to be sent to the state house today by the Franklin County Taxpayers' Protective League.

Passed at a meeting here, the resolution condemned salaries of officials as "exorbitant."

Although acquiescing in the fact that at the special session, which ended Thursday, the question of salaries was not to be considered, the resolution stated that "later developments stressed the necessity for action."

SAVED UP PENNIES

MANSFIELD, O., April 4.—After collecting Indian pennies for ten years, A. W. Fullager joined President Hoover's anti-hoarding campaign Saturday when he deposited 6010 of the coins with a building and loan company here.

Fullager explained that when he obtained an Indian penny he dropped it into a large glass jar at his home. The jar was filled and a count at the bank disclosed it contained $60.10 worth of pennies when Fullager deposited them.

WINCHESTER SWEEP
BY SERIOUS BLAZE

WINCHESTER, O., April 4.—Fire swept through the business district of this Adams County village early today, destroying one entire block of buildings and damaging adjoining homes and business places, with loss estimated in excess of $100,000.

Fire departments from Sardinia, Seaman and Hillsboro aided local firemen in fighting the flames.

The fire started from an undetermined cause about 3 a. m. and was brought under control three hours later.

BABY WITH MOTHER AFTER RESCUE FROM SHAFT

Mrs. Paul Collins, of Picher, Okla., is snatched with her two-year-old son, Gerald, in a Miami, Okla. hospital where the child was rushed following his rescue from a mine drill hole into which he stumbled near his home. The child fell 25 feet into the shaft, jagged rocks preventing a still further fall. His rescue was effected by miners, working nearby, who utilized a steam shovel to excavate a second shaft alongside the first. Physicians have been fighting a threat of pneumonia.

WILMINGTON, O., April 4.—Identified as the man in overalls who robbed the First National Bank at Blanchester last Saturday, Oscar J. Smith, 30, of Pittsburgh, Pa., a former Clinton County resident, refused to answer questions of Sheriff Gus Miller today.

Smith appeared to be in a stupor. Employees of the bank had told the sheriff that the bandit appeared to be "half drunk."

He was arrested at the B. and O. Railroad station at Washington, C. H., by the chief of police of that city as he was waiting for a train to take him to Columbus where his wife lives.

In a satchel fastened around his waist, was found $8,257, Sheriff Miller said. It was believed this was the entire amount, although bank officials said earlier the loss would be approximately $15,000. Smith spent only ninety-seven cents from the time he escaped from the holdup until his arrest.

It was expected that charges of robbery would be preferred directly to the Clinton County grand jury which meets Wednesday.

YOUTH SHOT TRYING TO ESCAPE POLICE; FIVE UNDER ARREST

Face Charges Here After Burglary Of Section
Shanty

Within an hour after they were alleged to have entered a section shanty in the west end Pennsylvania Railroad yards late Saturday afternoon and stolen a few articles of clothing, four Springfield youths were rounded up by Fred O. Lyeur, chief of railroad detectives, and police Chief O. H. Cornwell.

A fifth suspect, who made his escape, was apprehended in Springfield Saturday evening and brought back to Xenia. He gave his name as Charles Lowdermilk, 17, of 354 Linwood Ave., Springfield.

The other four were registered as Emory Armstrong, 18, of 524 Galliger St.; Ansel Brumfield, 18, of 328 E. Pleasant St.; Robert Haley, 17, and Carl Huff, 17, both of 1504 Sheridan Ave., all of Springfield.

Huff was shot and wounded in the right thigh by Chief Cornwell while attempting to escape from the police chief and the railroad detective. The boy was removed to McClellan Hospital, where his condition was pronounced to be not serious. The bullet emerged without striking a bone, hospital attaches said.

A Cincinnati Ave. crossing watchman who saw five youths break into the shanty and leave with a quantity of clothing belonging to George Bell, foreman of the section gang, who was unloading the police found the track, reported the theft to Detective Lyeur. The detective arrested three of the youths while they were waiting to board a freight train at the "Y" tower.

Huff, who had separated from his companions, later "hopped" a Springfield-bound freight train, but jumped from the train near Church St., after he saw the train to stop. Pursued by Chief Cornwell and the detective, the suspect fled across the north residential district of the city. Chief Cornwell emptied his pistol, firing six shots to scare the fugitive, and when Huff ignored the bullets, the officer fired again, wounding the boy.

The two eldest youths, Brumfield and Armstrong, pleaded guilty to train riding charges in Municipal Court Monday, and sentence was reserved by the court until Wednesday. Cases of Lowdermilk, Haley and Huff, minors, will be disposed of in Juvenile Court, where they may be charged with delinquency.

Both his mother and sister-in-law, witnesses of the slayings, told the same story as that of Espinosa.

The story was that three natty dressed Mexicans arrived at the ranch Friday night, declared themselves New Mexican officers, and gained admission. Once inside they demanded $5,000 and when Espinosa said he did not have it, opened fire on the ten members of the family, killing seven.

CHICAGO, April 4.—A crazed Negro who shot and killed his wife and a policeman, and wounded a third, was being held in a jail here today after he was killed on the porch of his home.

Two other officers who participated in the siege were wounded slightly when a shotgun was accidentally discharged while being unloaded after the battle.

A radio call yesterday afternoon dispatched police to the south side flat occupied by Edward Wash, 36, Negro, and his wife Louise, 34, and Sino Fernandez, 48, Mexican boarder.

Policemen Raymond Kelly, 31, and Robert Fawcett knocked on the door. The Negro opened the door, fired point blank at Kelly and slammed the door shut, continuing his gun fire.

Other police squads arrived as Fawcett carried his fatally wounded comrade downstairs. The reinforcements carried on a bombardment of the flat as several thousand curious watched.

Wash fired at the officers until he was driven to his back porch by tear gas bombs. There he was shot and killed by Detective Martin McGuire stationed on the porch of an adjacent apartment.

The body of the Negro's wife was found when police searched the flat. Fernandez was found in a closet where he had hidden during the fray. He was wounded in the arm.

BLANCHESTER BANK BANDIT IS SILENT; APPEARS IN STUPOR

GRAF ZEPPELIN DAMAGED WHEN IT HITS ANTENNA; DELAY TRIP

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, April 4.—Three holes were torn in the bag of the Graf Zeppelin early today as the huge zeppelin scraped the airport radio antenna while starting for Pernambuco, Brazil, with eight passengers and forty-two in its crew.

Repairs on the zeppelin were completed at noon and it was announced that the ship was to leave for Pernambuco at 4:30 a. m. Tuesday.

A statement from the zeppelin works said a drop in temperature prevented the ship from rising quickly enough to clear the antenna. The damage could have been repaired in flight, the statement said, but the ship's commander preferred to land because he was still close to port.

The three holes torn in the outer bag were between four feet and six feet in diameter, passengers and crew went home or to their hotels while repair crews began their patching and replacing propellers broken on one motor.

Speculators at the air port noticed that the zeppelin had difficulty getting away. They believed the ship was carrying too much ballast.

One of the passengers for Pernambuco was Rudi Lang, five and a half years old, who flew here from Stuttgart with his foster mother and was to continue by airplane from Pernambuco to Buenos Aires to join his parents.

INVESTIGATION IS CARRIED TO LONDON BY POLICE OFFICER

Mysterious Visit Of Plane Reported;
Colonel Returns

GIRL INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY MACHINE LEAVES HOSPITAL

Helen Lamka, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lamka, one and one-half miles south of Xenia on the Wilmington Pike, was to be removed to her home Monday from McClellan Hospital where she was confined after suffering a fracture of the right leg and cuts and bruises on her face, Tuesday afternoon when struck by an automobile in front of her home.

Helen, who attends White Chapel School, had ridden home with her teacher, J. A. Spitzer, of near Waynesville. It is thought she became confused while crossing the road in front of her home and was struck by an automobile driven by Charles Riddell, S. Detroit St., this city. Mr. Riddell, formerly of Wilmington who moved to Xenia several days ago, was driving toward Wilmington. Mrs. Lamka witnessed the accident from her home.

The little girl was knocked unconscious. Mr. and Mrs. Riddell stopped after the accident and then continued on to Wilmington.

The child was reported to be recovering favorably Monday.

FARM RESIDENCE IS DESTROYED BY FIRE OF UNKNOWN ORIGIN

A five-room frame dwelling, tenant house on the C. C. Curry farm, five miles southwest of Jamestown, Pa., occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Stockwell, was completely destroyed with part of its contents by fire Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

No one was home when the fire broke out, Mr. and Mrs. Stockwell having left a short time before to visit relatives near South Charleston. Cause of the blaze has not been determined but it is thought it started in a room where there was a coal stove.

Mrs. Benton Shaw, neighbor, was the first to see the blaze and notified neighbors who assisted in removing furniture from two rooms. The remainder of the furniture was burned. Because of a high wind, a woodshed, chicken house and smoke house was also destroyed but neighbors prevented the barn from catching fire.

The loss has not been estimated but is said to be completely covered by insurance.

REFUSED TO OPEN DOOR — BANG!

James Estridge, 26, colored, 337 E. Market St., appeared before Municipal Judge E. Dawson Smith Monday morning for arraignment on a charge of assault filed by his wife, who presented a "shiner" on one eye as evidence.

"Why did you knock your wife down?" asked the court. "Because she wouldn't open a door for me," replied Estridge.

"Is she your slave?" inquired the judge as he fined the defendant $100 and costs and sentenced him to thirty days in jail.

JAILED FOR THEFT

Charged with petit larceny in connection with the theft of an automatic pistol from Harry Alken, colored, 47 Taylor St., Marion Jackson, 44, colored, 721 Perry St., Dayton, was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in jail by Judge Smith. He pleaded guilty.

HEALEY IMPROVES; AUTO DRIVER HELD

Thomas Healey, 330 E. Main St., who was seriously injured Friday night when struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Anderson, colored, 421 E. Main St., at Main and Monroe Sts., was reported considerably improved at the County Infirmary Hospital Monday. He had fully regained consciousness Sunday.

Healey, who was removed to the county institution Saturday afternoon, received a fractured skull, a wound in the left arm and body bruises. Anderson is still being held at police headquarters, pending the outcome of Healey's condition.

HERE'S CHEER FOR WRITERS COMING FROM SUCCESSFUL WOMAN AUTHOR

Thyra Samter Winslow

By LILIAN CAMPBELL

"Magazine editors are buying again," and "there is no such thing as 'an inglorious Milton' today," was some of the good news Thyra Samter Winslow told the members of the American Women's association, at their annual "Book Night," held recently.

Thyra Samter Winslow knows whereof she speaks. Her new book of short stories, "Blueberry Pie," has been off the press only a short time, and is already a success, again proving that a book of short stories may be a best seller.

"Editors aren't buying as much as formerly. That's certain. But they ARE buying again—and during the last year they have bought very little. Now the files are beginning to empty. Old material is fast being used up. New material is being purchased. Few magazines are turning down really exceptional stories.

"Not only that," Miss Winslow continued "but new writers have an almost unheard of opportunity—though all editors have always been most encouraging to new writers—when the writers had anything to offer. Today the situation for new authors is especially good. Editors have small budgets. If editors buy a few stories by well-known writers—and there is no doubt that a few well-known names do help a table of contents—they are well content to put stories by beginners in the rest of the magazines.

"After all," Miss Winslow said, later, "even we who are selling to day had to make a start, one time, as unknowns. If young writers only realize that editors make their reputations not by turning down, but by discovering young authors!"

Miss Winslow gives these reasons as to why young writers do not make sales:

1. Unfamiliarity with markets. A writer can't sell unless he knows magazines. If he doesn't like to read them he shouldn't try to sell to them. A salesman wouldn't try to sell bath tubs to a lace shop. Drug stores sell nearly everything, these days—and some magazines offer a drug store like table of contents, but most of them are more specialized.
2. Careless manuscripts. Most professional writers turn out well-written manuscripts. It is the amateur, who ought to produce a faultless looking manuscript, who gives an editor a careless one. There is no excuse for this. A manuscript should be faultlessly typed, double spaced, correctly written.
3. Trifly expressed.
4. Nothing to say. If you haven't anything to say—or unless you think you have—why be a writer? Unless you are bubbling over with a desire for self-expression, actually believe in your own ability to write—and care more about writing than anything else in the world, turn to something else. Writing is a profession for the person who must be a writer!

"Writing is hard work. It means delving deeply. Writing about things that hurt to write about. Writing means rewriting, polishing. Hours of concentrated labor. If you can't put time and effort into writing, take up some other occupation.

"All writers—as well as all actors—and most other people in public life, are exhibitionists. Miss Winslow says, "We all want to show off, exhibit, justify ourselves. Some of us sing. Others paint. Others go on the stage. Others write. All of us are children doing the things we can exhibit, so we can say, "Look—this is what we have done." And it takes hard work—and some ability—to do anything well."

CHICKENS IN ATTIC CAUSE SENTENCE OF VERN WILSON AGAIN

For the second time in three months a penchant for hoarding chickens in the attic of his home on the Xenia-Wilmington Pike near Lumberton has landed Vern Wilson, 45, in jail.

This time Wilson is languishing in the Clinton County jail, having been fined $100 and costs and given a thirty-day jail sentence by Magistrate W. I. Stewart in that county last week. He was accused of petit larceny as a sequel to numerous poultry thefts. He was charged specifically with stealing fifty chickens from the Arthur Purtee farm in the New Antioch neighborhood. All but eleven were sold. An inspection of the attic at his home revealed the floor covered with chicken feathers, Wilson having allegedly clipped the wings and tail feathers to thwart identification.

Indicted by the Greene County grand jury in January for burglary and larceny, Wilson was later fined $25 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in jail for the theft of a dozen chickens from David H. Keiter, of the White Chapel neighborhood, last January 2. The stolen chickens were discovered in the attic at his residence.

The Zion Baptist Missionary Society will meet Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Mamie I. Gaines, E. Market St.

Zimmerman News

Because quite a number of persons were disappointed at not being able to attend the first presentation, on account of extremely cold and stormy weather, the Zimmerman Community Club is sponsoring a second performance of the play, "Out of Bounds," by members of the Beaver Grange at the K. of P. Hall at Alpha, Thursday evening, April 7 at 8 o'clock. Special musical numbers and readings are given between acts. Those who saw the first entertainment praise it very highly as all parts were well rendered. Those taking part are: Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Tobias, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Stauffer, Catherine Wolfe and Frank Shawhan.

The musical program given by the ladies' quartet and male quartet of Manchester College, assisted by a reader and accompanists, was greatly enjoyed by music lovers present, Tuesday evening at the church at Zimmerman. A capacity audience was in attendance. The following program was ably presented and reflected credit on both singers and director: hymn, congregation; prayer, Rev. Eldon Miller; response, ladies' quartet; (a) "The Lord Is My Light," Gretcheninoff, (b) "Cherubim Song in C," Gretcheninoff, mixed octet; medley of hymns, male quartet; "There's a Wideness," a hymn and "Remember Now Thy Creator," Haines, ladies' quartet; "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains," Harker, by Harvey Collins; "Sleigh Song," Kountz, "Weep No More," mixed octet; musical reading, "A Child's Dream of a Star," Dickens, by Miss Lois Ulmer; spirituals, "Chilun Come On Home," Cain, "Don't You Weep, Mary," Bett, by mixed octet; piano solo in C, Webster, Miss Bonetta Baker; spirituals, "I'm Troubled," "You Better Mind," male quartet; (a) "Hi Li'l Feller," Riker-Dells, (b) "Nehar Min' My Honey," Deis, ladies quartet; "Rock of Ages," Robinson, "Abide With Me," Fears, ladies' quartet; "Lost in the Night," Christianson, mixed octet; hymn, "Saviour Lead Me," mixed octet. Prof. Boyer, director. After the program the group was entertained at a covered dish supper in the basement by the young people of the church. Present from other churches and communities were: Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Snyder and daughter, Miss Martha Snyder, of Belmont; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lutz (Irene Carpenter) of Belmont; Mr. and Mrs. Sam Miller and sons, Mrs. Leona Younce, Miss Charlotte Louis, Mr. Clark, Miss Ruth Tobias, Mrs. Baugh and three children, Fairfield; Mrs. Killian and daughter, J. L. Karna and wife, Dayton; Mrs. Allen Andrews, Pauline and Helen; Mr. and Mrs. Osborne, Grace Osborne, Miss Elizabeth Ankney, Miss Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Richards and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Kier, of Dayton; Mr. Jeff Robertson, Clint Fogwell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Kogler.

Mr. and Mrs. Ohmer Sturgeon moved to Xenia. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith moved to Dayton Monday. We are sorry to lose these good people from our community. Both ladies were active members of the Community Club. James Barron, of Chicago, spent Easter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Barron and left Monday for Washington, D. C.

A large and appreciative audience attended the Easter cantata at Mt. Zion church Sunday evening, given by thirty-one voices from the Beaver and Mt. Zion Church choirs. All numbers were well rendered and deserve the highest praise for individual and group numbers and for the director, Miss Elizabeth Ankney, teacher of music in Beavercreek Twp. schools and Mrs. Otto Keiter, accompanist. In addition to being an accomplished pianist, Mrs. Keiter understands the secret, (which so few accompanists and others with secondary roles—learn) but which is so necessary to success, in these parts namely—that "He that is great among you let him be your servant." That an accompanist must play to and for the soloist or singers, instead of considering her own the more important role.

A group from the young peoples' Sunday School class, gave Mr. and Mrs. Chester (Ted) Miller, (Thelma Turner), a "belling" and "shower" one evening last week, at their home on the William Tobias farm near Beaver.

Mrs. George Stine was able to attend church Sunday after several weeks illness.

Among the visitors enjoying the Easter Cantata at Mt. Zion Sunday evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe Coy and children, Sam Miller and family, Mrs. Nettie Moler, Russell Zimmerman, George Haverstick, Mrs. Herman Miller, Mary Ellen Miller, Lillie Hanes, Ruth Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Bailey, Mrs. Henry Stewart, Thelma and Nadine Stewart, Miss Catherine Kogler, Earl Kelly, Miss Irene Bailey, Truman Coy, Miss Martha Coy, Raymond Huston, Miss Louise Crawford, Raymond Coy, Miss Mary Haverstick, Robert Shellabarger.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson (Mary Eidemiller), Miss Ruth Eidemiller, Merlin Eidemiller, attended church here Sunday morning.

Special musical numbers were sung by the choir, and a duet by Misses Ruth and Martha Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McCray spent Saturday night and Sunday at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Crawford Coy and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Stebbins attended church at this place Sunday morning, and were dinner guests of their son, Supt. C. M. Stebbins and wife at Alpha.

FOURTEEN BECOME MEMBERS OF CHURCH

Fourteen persons joined the Church of Christ at revival services at the Opera House Sunday night when Dr. F. W. Strong, evangelist, spoke on "The Lord's Unanswered Prayer". "Jesus prayed for the unity of all His people upon His word and in His name and the Church of Christ is anxious to unite with all churches on the Bible, the whole Bible and nothing but the Bible," the speaker declared.

A baptismal service was a feature of the meeting Sunday night and a similar service will be held Monday night, it is announced. Dr. Strong's subject will be "The Footprints of Jesus."

Children who have been meeting at the Opera House every afternoon after school under the direction of Miss Mattie Wofford, assisting evangelist, will present a drill Monday evening.

Who's Who in Washington

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

Carlos G. Davila

The fact that communistic activities are attributed to Carlos Davila, former Chilean ambassador in Washington, recently reported in jail in Valparaiso on a charge of plotting against his home country's present government, just goes to show how promiscuously the red label is pinned today upon anyone who disagrees with the author of the accusation.

Don Carlos was a supporter of ex-President Ibanez, whose system was about as communistic as Premier Mussolini's—that is to say, so exceedingly unlike Leninism that there are folk who see a resemblance between the two philosophies, on the Einsteinian theory that space curves, ultimately bringing extremes together somewhere in infinity.

The little Chilean primarily is a newspaper man—one of the best ever produced in South America. He was born into the aristocracy of his native republic—a very small group—and to speak of his views as Hamiltonian would be to describe them at about one-half of 1 per cent of par. Incidentally he is a full defender of every entrenched North American interest in his home land. He is a thoroughly likable midget, but alongside him Senator Smoot would rate as a believer in Soviet rule.

As political differences of opinion are interpreted south of the equator, it would not be surprising if Davila were to be shot as an emissary of Moscow, nevertheless.

FARMERS TO SHIFT CROPS THIS SEASON

COLUMBUS, O., April 4.—C. R. Arnold, extension economist for Ohio State University, said today that farmers in the United States intended to make drastic shifts in crop acreages this spring, owing to the "unusual prices being received for farm products."

According to information received at the university extension bureau, 50,000 American farmers intended to sow 21 per cent more barley, seven per cent more oats, plant about the same amount of corn and soybeans, 22 per cent less tobacco, and about two per cent more potatoes.

The 50,000 farmers, Arnold said, were residents of a cross section of the United States, and "indicate with reasonable accuracy the intentions of farmers early in the month."

WORLD WATCHES HAWAII AS AMERICANS GO TO TRIAL

Eyes of the world are again focused upon Honolulu as a Washington society leader, her naval lieutenant son-in-law and two American seamen go on trial, April 4, for the "honor slaying" of Mrs. Thalia Massie, daughter of the American woman and wife of the lieutenant. Mrs. Fortescue, Lieutenant Massie, Jones and Lord are charged, in the second degree, with the murder of Joseph Kahahawai, one of the five natives identified as having attacked Mrs. Massie last September. Clarence Darrow, noted criminal lawyer, heads the defense counsel. A sharp legal battle is expected.

"DON'T KID YOURSELF!"

That's Philosophy Edward S. Jordan, Former Motor Magnate, Uses As Depression Cure

CLEVELAND, O., April 4.—Edward S. Jordan, former motor car magnate, pulled a loose thread from his $20 suit, bit the end off a nickel cigar and twitted the depression that cost him his once vast fortune.

"Before the accident," related the former president of the Jordan Motor Co., referring to the depression, "I had been what is colloquially called a big shot. In other words if a grocer in East Cleveland where I lived found himself facing a deficit, he would call in his bookkeeper and say 'Rebecca, get out them Jordan dailies slips and we'll balance the budget.'"

Then came the depression.

"For a time I was simply crushed," he admitted, resuming his confession of how it feels to be toppled from wealth. "I hardly knew what to do. If the news got around to the Mayfield Club or Popper Pike Club that I had lost my fortune, think what would happen to my social standing."

He paused to flick the ash from the nickel stogie.

"Oh, I've not lost all of my ideals and my illusions," he said. "Of course, I did lose part of my underwear. And it's awfully hard to laugh that off."

He tried it by taking a long cruise and reading the philosophers from Confucius on down.

"But the best philosophy I ever heard," he reported, "can be expressed in three words—'Don't kid yourself.' That realization helped me to cure my depression."

HE ORIGINATED ETTA KETT

Creator Of Famous Comic Strip Tells Story Of His Career As Artist

"Art marked me for its own at a tender age," says Paul Robinson, creator of the popular comic strip, "Etta Kett," an exclusive feature daily in The Gazette.

"The mural decorations I painted on my classroom, Halloween night, have drawn, I think 'Etta Kett' my supreme inspiration. She typifies in my mind the ideal girl of today and in her I try to mirror all the daring vivaciousness, all the sweetness and carefree abandon of the modern girl."

PAUL ROBINSON

proved sensational. A special meeting of the school board was held and they voted unanimously that I was just wasting my time in their institution.

"Many times I am asked what course I took to become a cartoonist. For the benefit of those who are trying to become successful in this work, let me say that I took the course of least resistance. "For a long time I produced animated cartoons, drawing for nearly all the large film corporations. In one year I worked for eight different companies. Even to this day I am trying to break myself of the habit I formed in those days of working with my hat and coat on. "Next, the humorous weekly field claimed my attention, and from there I climbed the fence over into the newspaper field, where the grass looked 'long greener.' To make a long story less boring, I drew practically every kind of cartoon from sport to editorial, and at one time more than 1,500 newspapers were being served with my work."

"Of the 'several' comic strips I

MISS MARY BANKER DIES; FORMER HEAD OF CHILDREN'S HOME

Miss Mary H. Banker, 58, former chief matron at the Greene County Children's Home, died at her home, 118 W. Main St., Saturday evening at 5:30 o'clock. She had been in failing health several years suffering from a complication of diseases. Her condition had been serious the past year and she suffered an attack Tuesday which resulted in her death.

Miss Banker was born in Xenia August 26, 1873, the daughter of H. C. and Katherine Banker and had spent her entire life here. She was chief matron at the county institution nearly twenty years serving in that position at two different times. She held the position during the period the Home was moved to its present location across the Dayton Pike from its former site.

Miss Banker had also served as matron at the I. O. O. F. Home, Springfield and the O. S. and S. O. Home here. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church, Daughters of Union Veterans and Phoenix Rebekah Lodge.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Katherine Banker, a sister, Mrs. Esther Wilson, at home; another sister, Mrs. Charles Falkner, Columbus; and a brother, P. C. Banker, N. Detroit St., this city.

Funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial will be made in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call at the home Monday evening from 7 until 9 o'clock.

TWO ACCIDENT CAUSES. SALEM, Ore.—Two major causes account for nearly all pedestrian automobile deaths, the state traffic department has learned. "Children playing in the streets" and "walking out from behind parked cars" are the two fatal classifications.

Babe Ruth's annual predictions of probable winners in the National and American League races cause more than a ripple of interest and no end of discussion among baseball fans each spring.

His 1932 predictions in "Babe Ruth's Baseball Book" forecast his own New York Yankees as the pennant winners in the American League, while St. Louis is favored to repeat a third straight year in the National.

Connie Mack's Athletics, who have won three American League championships in a row, are picked by the Bambino to finish no better than third this year. His explanation is: "I believe this team, as an organization, is fading as other great championship teams have done in the past. There remain several outstanding stars in Mack's array, but pennant winners can go only so far when past success leaves its imprint. There is no such hustle as in the days when pennants were novelties."

The Yankees, the Babe argues, were coming strongly when the 1931 season closed and he thinks they will be hard to beat this year. "Young pitchers are going to make a great difference and Joe McCarthy has some great youngsters ready to step in at other positions. Gomez, Chapman and other young stars should be better. Pipgras is due for a big year, and so is Charley Ruffing."

In the National League scramble, St. Louis appears to Ruth to have the best balanced team and like-wise plenty of replacements if any of the regulars fall down.

"I look for the Giants again to furnish the greatest opposition but do not think the Giants have added enough strength to make them favorites over the Cardinals."

Contrary to the widespread opinion of experts that the Cincinnati Reds are the most improved ball club in the big leagues over last season, Babe does not think much of the chances of the Redlegs for getting out of the league dungeon this year. He picks them to finish in last place again.

Here is how the Yankee home run king selects the clubs in both leagues to finish in 1932:

National League	American League
St. Louis	New York
Pittsburgh	Washington
Brooklyn	Philadelphia
Chicago	Cleveland
Boston	St. Louis
Philadelphia	Chicago
Cincinnati	Boston
	Detroit

George Ewing, who seems willing to promote almost anything in the realm of sports, writes as follows:

Dear Phil:

"I would like to know what the fans in Xenia and Greene County think about open air boxing matches here. If they would pay expenses, I would light up a section of the Washington St. ball park, say twice a month, for local and professional bouts. Let's hear more about this from the fans through your column."

CENTRAL LEAGUE TO OPEN SEASON MAY 4

AKRON, O., April 4.—Arrangements for a split-season schedule of 140 games, beginning on May 4, was made at a meeting here Sunday of Central Baseball League representatives.

The second half of the season will begin July 4, with all teams scheduled to play double headers. Excepting Erie, Pa., each team in the league will play at least three night games a week.

The following opening games were scheduled: Canton at Akron; Erie, Pa., at Dayton; South Bend, Ind., at Fort Wayne.

The Canton squad, training at Baltimore, is the only team to train away from home. No other clubs were considered for membership by the six-club league.

Only fourteen players and a bench manager will be permitted each team after May 20 under rules adopted at Sunday's meeting. The rules also provide that five players on each team must never have played in organized baseball, and that salaries must be limited to $250 a month and club budgets to $2,500 a month.

SOFTBALL MEETING ON MONDAY NIGHT

A second attempt to reorganize the Xenia Playground Association, preliminary to outlining of plans for the 1932 softball season, will be made at a meeting called for 7:00 o'clock Monday night in the assembly room of the Court House.

This will be the last opportunity for prospective softball teams to be admitted to membership in the organization. Written application must be made and a $5 entrance fee must be paid at this meeting.

The meeting is open to all softball players and fans and team urged particularly that each team have its manager or other official representative present.

REDS BACK HOME
CINCINNATI, April 4.—The Reds were home today after their training trip, which closed yesterday in Louisville, Ky., where they lost to the Colonels of the American Association, 5 to 3.

HOME TEAM DEFEATS LIMA MARKSMEN IN LOCAL RIFLE MATCH

Stivers Shooters Not Here; Cadets Score 978 Points

Exhibiting accurate marksmanship, the Cadet Rifle Club of the O. S. and S. O. Home compiled a team score of 978 out of a possible 1,000 points to defeat the American Legion Junior Rifle Club of Lima, O., in a dual rifle match fired Saturday afternoon on the range in the Home armory.

The match was to have been a triangular affair with Stivers High School also competing, but the Dayton school sent word Saturday morning that its rifle team would be unable to participate.

The cadet shooters won over Lima by a margin of thirteen points, the team score of the visiting team being 965.

The match was the "rubber" of a three-game series, each club having beaten the other once.

Nine marksmen composed each squad but only the five highest scores counted in the team totals. Each contestant fired twenty shots from a prone position with iron sights used.

Cadet scores were as follows: F. Alexander, 196; C. Badal, 196; D. O'Brien, 196; G. Lakes, 195; P. Schuck, 195. Lima scores were: H. Crider, 194; G. Bowerman, 194; M. DeVoe, 193; G. Scheid, 192; R. Parsons, 192.

The Lima juniors were accompanied to Xenia by their coach, Lt. R. G. Patterson, secretary of the Lima Rifle and Revolver Club, and Harold O. Verbruyke, executive officer of the Lima senior club. Mr. Verbruyke and D. E. Martin, Xenia, acted as official scorers.

JACKIE FIELDS AND PEE WEE JARRELL TO MEET TUESDAY

DAYTON, O., April 4.—Pee Wee Jarrell, famed "Clown Prince" of the welterweight division, gets the supreme test of his sensational career Tuesday night at Memorial Hall when he climbs through the ropes to do battle with Jackie Fields, welterweight champion of the world in a ten round non-title fight.

The wise-cracking and fast punching Pee Wee has taken Ohio fans by storm with his sensational ring work and for months the fans have been craving a chance to see him in there with a fighter who could really extend him. In seven fights in Dayton rings with the best welterweights in Ohio, Pee Wee hardly worked up a sweat so easily did he beat them.

Fields is one of the fastest working welterweights to come up in recent years and the fact that he was good enough to regain the welterweight crown after losing it indicates his class.

However, good as Fields may be, the fact that he is making Jarrell come in overweight shows what he thinks of the Fort Wayne slasher's ability. Twice before, champions have saved their titles by making Jarrell come in a few ounces overweight; and evidently Fields is using the same tactics.

Bowling

Lead of Arch-O-Pedic in the Krippendorf Bowling League has diminished to one full game over Flex-Welt, while in the Recreation League the Red Wings possess a twelve-game advantage. League standings:

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Red Wings	6	23	.667
Schmidt Oil Co.	44	40	.523
Famous Autos	39	45	.464
Krippendorf Shoes	29	55	.345

Team	Won	Lost	Pct.
Arch-O-Pedic	39	30	.565
Flex-Welt	38	31	.550

PERFECTION STOVE COMPANY HEAD DIES

CLEVELAND, O., April 4.—Francis E. Drury, 81, founder of the Perfection Stove Company and one of Cleveland's better known patrons of art and drama, died Sunday at his winter home in Augustaa, Ga. He had been ill for several months.

He was president of the play house association here, was one of the founders of the music school settlement, and had contributed to other musical enterprises here. A priceless art collection, gathered from all parts of the world, has been assembled by Drury in his estate at Gates Mills. The old Drury gardens once were one of Cleveland's showplaces.

BUREAUCRACY IS FLAYED BY TRUAX

TIFFIN, O., April 4.—Clint an increase of "more than 700 per cent." in expenses of the United States department of agriculture from 1919 to 1931, Charles V. Truax, former state director of agriculture and candidate for congressman-at-large, told members of the Exchange Club here today that congress should "save instead of tax."

Truax declared that during the past twelve years the cost of "government bureaucracy" had grown to such proportions that budgets could never be permanently balanced until drastic cuts were made in all departments.

BREAKFAST LOOT
COLUMBUS, O., April 4.—It may have been only a coincidence, but a robber who broke into an electrical shop here during the week end stole an electric alarm clock, an electric egg cooker and an electric toaster.

CAN'T BE TRUE—BUT HE IS! MEET MR. PINETZKI!

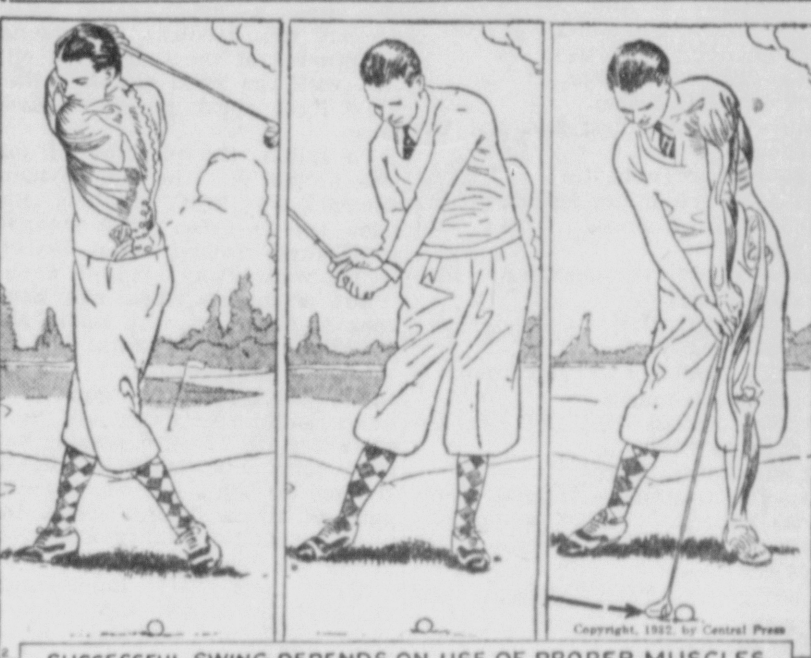

Primo Carnera must relinquish his throne as sport's largest mammoth. Mr. Leo Pinetzki is on the scene. Fresh from Europe, Leo, who hopes to be the world's mountain-weight wrestling champion, is astonishing New Yorkers by his Empire State building physique. Leo admits 283 pounds, towers six feet nine inches cloudward. He's proving he has a 96-inch reach to Gene Bruce, Chick Wergesles, Sam Taub and Jack Pfeffer, his manager, in a Gotham gym where he is in training.

USE OF PROPER MUSCLES IS CAUSE OF CORRECT SWING

SUCCESSFUL SWING DEPENDS ON USE OF PROPER MUSCLES

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is No. 2 of a series of golf lessons by Alex Morrison, golf's star teacher. These lessons appear in The Gazette's sport pages each Wednesday and Saturday. Watch for the next.

By ALEX J. MORRISON
Golf's Foremost Technician

Now you may be "on" your game, but most of the time you're "off." You struggle along believing that inconsistent results are but a part of the game. They are not or need not be. Most of your ups and downs are caused simply by your failure to recognize the essentials of a successful swing.

A successful golf swing is one full, smooth, flowing motion without mental or physical interruption. Every golfer has experienced the "feel" of such a swing. Perhaps you have not enjoyed this sensation very often and certainly not as often as you would like. No doubt it is an elusive proposal.

N. Y. STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, April 4.—Another sinking spell brought the stock market into new low ground for the bear movement today.

Losses ranged to more than 2 points with the railroad shares the weakest. Steel common dropped nearly a point to 38½.

In the railroad division, Chesapeake Corporation crumpled to a new low at 9 off 2½ and new lows for the bear movement were made by Baltimore & Ohio at 16½ off 1½, and Atchafalpa at 59 off 2. New York Central declined near a point to 22½.

EX-COMIC STRIP ARTIST ENDS LIFE

CLEVELAND, April 4.—Loron A. Taylor, 32, former comic strip artist who shot himself to death Saturday at the home of a taxicab driver, here, will be buried tomorrow at Columbiana, O.

Taylor was a commercial artist. He formerly drew the comic "Mon 'n' Pop" for the Nea Feature Service where he worked for about four years. He left a letter to his wife from whom he was separated in August.

"Right this way, if you please, sir!"

Unless you happen to be an invited guest of the British Royal Family, the best way to "see" Windsor Castle is under the convoy of a uniformed guide. In a sing-song patter, he will tell you its history . . . point out things of interest whose full significance would escape the unattended tourist.

It also saves time and shoe-leather to use "guides" when you do your daily marketing at home. These guides are the advertisements in this paper. They tell you where, when, and the equally important "how much."

By consulting the advertisements, you know in advance what the stores have to offer. If you are pressed for time, you can do your shopping by telephone, with the newspaper before you as a definite guide. Read the advertisements . . . the big ones and the little ones.

"Step this way," the advertisements say, saving time and lost motion.

HOLDS UP BEQUEST TO PAY JUDGMENT

Bequeathed $700 and a one-half share of personal property under the will of W. H. Hargrave, deceased, C. E. Hargrave is prevented from receiving the bequest under a temporary restraining order granted in Common Pleas Court as a result of an injunction suit filed by Alonzo Johnson.

Johnson brought the action against C. E. Hargrave, Lillian Hargrave, Harold D. Hargrave, and O. S. and C. E. Hargrave, as executors of the W. H. Hargrave estate. He declares he recovered a judgment against C. E. and Lillian Hargrave May 26, 1928, and that there is due him $1,891.55, the judgment still being unsatisfied because Hargrave is insolvent and has insufficient property to satisfy the judgment. The plaintiff seeks to have money and property due Hargrave as beneficiary under the will to be applied on the judgment. Attorney Marcus Shoup represents Johnson.

FORECLOSURE ACTION

Suit for $568.72 and foreclosure of mortgage property has been filed in Common Pleas Court by the Peoples Lending and Savings Co. against Little Steams.

SENTENCE AUTOIST AFTER GUILTY PLEA

Sequel to a wild auto ride early Saturday afternoon, Elmer Reator, 24, of 28 1/2 N. Spring St., Springfield, was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to thirty days in jail and his driving rights were revoked for six months by Municipal Judge E. Dawson Smith Monday morning.

Reactor pleaded guilty to operating an auto while intoxicated.

Vernon Morgan, 19, R. R. No. 8, Springfield, occupant of Reactor's machine, pleaded guilty to driving a motor vehicle and was fined $100 and costs.

Two Xenia girls, passengers in the machine, were released.

Reactor's car was said by police to have crashed into a fence and strewn on Columbus St. after which the machine continued north on this street and out the Columbus Pike. Half a mile out on the highway the auto was overtaken by an officer and the occupants taken to police headquarters.

Radio "Night Club" To Be Launched Tuesday

By MILDRED MASON

SEVENTY-FIVE radio artists will participate in a new feature — "Night Club" — which will be inaugurated over station WLW, Cincinnati, Tuesday evening at 10 o'clock, and will be heard every Tuesday evening thereafter at the same hour.

Headlining the program will be such stage and radio stars as Phil Davis—who recently closed an engagement at the Paramount Theater in New York—and his dance orchestra; Pat Harrington, tenor and master of ceremonies; Marcella Uhl, "blues" singer; The Three Graces, harmony trio; Ralph Simpson, crooning tenor and several others. A twenty-minute floor show will be a feature of the new period.

Present Operetta.

Henry Hadley's fantastic opera, "The Fire Prince," will be presented by the Young Artists Light Opera Co. Tuesday at 2:30 p. m., over an NBC network through WTAM, Cleveland. The story concerns the adventures of Prigio, a skeptical youth, who does not believe in fairies in spite of the prevailing belief that a number of influential ones attended his christening and bestowed upon him many useful gifts. These gifts are treated with the utmost neglect until a series of extenuating circumstances force Prigio to acknowledge their value and a belief in their donors.

Wanted—Love! The Story of an Unemployed Girl

CHAPTER 32

"ISN'T THERE something, some way for a jobless girl to get along, in a big city like this?" Lillian asked, maturity in her tone.

Hers was the question in the minds of thousands of other job seekers. Laura and Eve had tried to believe, determined to hope there was a helping hand. They had looked and walked and asked. Daily they were going out searching and returned late—but without answer to the question.

As the three girls sat in their room—there was a small cot in it now for Lillian—little did they realize that plights such as theirs were becoming known as "the public calamity."

Eve was sifting the last of the coffee into the small percolator which sat on the electric grill. Both Lillian and Laura looked at Eve's fingers tapped the bottom of the pasteboard carton. Neither commented, but Eve said: "And that's that!"

"Crackers for all, butter for one, jelly for two," said Eve, arranging a plate of crackers, knives, butter and a bit of jelly on the small table.

"I never would have believed ten dollars would stretch so far," said Lillian, pulling up chairs. "It's been over a week since we got together like this and—"

"You'll never know what a blessing you were, Lillian—that night you came in here and said you had ten dollars. Laura and I had exactly five between us, counting postage stamps and pennies."

Lillian dared not ask how much there was among them, now. The scarcity of money was something they thought about almost constantly, but which they all tried not to talk about.

It seemed that the whole cycle of unemployment revolved into the tragedy of each girl. That each girl was a sober, gaunt figure against the heedless, impersonal background of the thundering city with the vivid drama in tangible form about her thin shoulders.

To Lillian the pleading of jobless people at the employment agencies was heart breaking. She tried not to listen when stooped, gray-haired women asked tearfully for work, "any kind of work."

But at night, when she came back to the room with Laura and Eve, the thing she fought all day was even more realistic. . . . in the small, poorly lighted room . . . Laura, more steely-eyed and nervous every day . . . Eve, making gaudy comments, meant to be diverting, amusing, but which fooled none of them. There was a tortured, dramatic vitality about the life in the shabby room.

All of them felt it. Each fought against it in her own way. Tried to seem nonchalant, optimistic, or, at least, unaware.

"We'll divide everything three ways," said Lillian, when the coffee came to a boil.

"You can have my butter, then," said Eve to Lillian, "and you, my part of the jelly," nodding to Laura. "I have to watch my figure, you know."

Eve watch her figure. Eve, who had to use safety pins to hold her skirts up and who could almost slip her belts over her hips! Her comment was too tragic for a laugh.

"Oh, Eve," escaped Laura, with far more sympathy in her face than she wanted to show. She hung her head with a swift movement.

"They couldn't afford to sympathize with each other. Sympathy was strange, painful things to them. They staved off anything like pity."

"All I want is a spot of coffee," said Lillian, and succeeded in sounding a little gay.

But Laura took a hand and divided everything evenly.

And when they got up to put on their hats and coats to begin another day of searching for employment there was barely a crumb left on their plates.

When they reached Sixth Avenue Laura stopped at the elevated stairs.

"Look," she said to Lillian and Eve, "let's all take it alone today. We might have better luck."

Lillian, while going about with the two girls, had given little thought to distraction. The idea of battling about by herself, trying to locate addresses frightened her. Still she knew being with the two girls all the time was depressing to all of them. They had no new interests. At night, in their little room they had nothing new to tell. Each knew just what the other had gone up against that day in the agencies. Each tried to forget how tears came in her eyes when the same answer was given, "Nothing today. Perhaps to morrow. I'm sorry."

"All right," said Lillian, "but let's all meet at seven in the room."

"Yes," said Eve, "let's be certain to do that."

Laura turned to go up the elevated stairs. Eve crossed the street. Lillian walked to the newsstand and bought a paper.

As she turned from the stand she saw Laura's tall, straight figure walking hurriedly up the street.

"I intended she would ride the elevated, then."

With a pang Lillian realized Laura no doubt didn't have a nickel

May we offer you a meal with us?"

But she had been too proud to tell the other girls.

Terror seized Lillian as she walked along Sixth Avenue, and her heart seemed to beat louder than it ever had in her life, so loud it drowned out the thundering sound of the elevated speeding along the tracks over her head.

It was like a nightmare. This terrible wanting to do something to earn money, but not being able to do anything.

Lillian noticed groups of girls turning into a building on East Nineteenth street. She followed. And as she had surmised, there was a free employment agency, maintained by the Girls Welfare League.

The crowds of girls there were not waiting listlessly as she had seen them in many other agencies. While they all evidently were out of work none of them were idle.

In the clubroom Lillian found there were classes in sewing. A dressmaker was directing in ways of making tailored garments and bright spring flannels.

"Would you like to join?" a pleasant voiced young woman asked Lillian as she stepped in the doorway.

"I can't sew," Lillian said.

"If you care to try just bring your material here and we'll instruct you."

"I'm looking for a job," Lillian told her.

"Yes," she said, "I understand. We try to find jobs for the unemployed. But, there are an average of 160 girls calling here every day and—there aren't jobs to go around."

"I see," said Lillian, starting to move away.

"You could brush up on your typewriting here in our vestibule school until you get a job," she was told.

Lillian shook her head. She didn't want to repeat again that she was untrained for office work. At some agencies that had been received with a laugh, a hopeless sort of laugh.

"We want to help you," the pleasant voice said, interpreting the helplessness Lillian felt.

"It's not help I need—but a job!" Lillian said.

Hers was the plea of a job and a chance at independence made over and over again in social agencies seeking to ease the plight of the young girl out of work.

The woman's hand patted Lillian's arm, understandingly.

"My dear young lady, don't be too proud

Urbana Players Sage; To Give "Front Page"

The "Legion Players," Urbana group that took over the activities of the Urbana Community Players when the latter decided not to produce any plays this season, will not be charged with lack of courage.

The organization announces it will present "The Front Page," a spicy newspaper comedy-drama at the Urbana Little Theater Tuesday and Wednesday and does so without apologies. If the Legion Players can "get away with" this opus, which presents a particular difficulty not only because of the high dramatic tone it demands but because of dialogue that might prove offensive to corn belt tastes, they deserve a Carnegie medal for heroism.

Ben Hecht and Charlie McArthur, both former Chicago newspapermen, wrote this startling suggested that it would be a diversion for both players and patrons to present a musical comedy as a seasonal finale, but this idea also still lacks support. The success of amateur musicals here in past years and the fact none has been offered lately, seems to strengthen the opinion that such a departure from the usual Little Theater policy would be popular.

Since the story about Janet Gaynor's difficulties with Fox over vehicles, it now appears that Janet and Charlie Farrell will be switched from the "Sunnybrook" thing to "The First Year," Frank Craven's enduring comedy about the difficulties of two young married folks. Sally Ellers and James Dunn were originally scheduled for this story but the change now appears certain.

Twenty Years '12- Ago -'32

Mr. G. H. Fuller has sold through the agency of C. E. Arhquist the two-story frame building on W. Second St., recently owned by Frank Hustmyer, to Julius Jacobson.

The Wood and Mullen barber shop received a complete complement of new barber chairs. There is nothing like keeping abreast of the times.

Messrs. H. C. Hupman and J. G. Adams, two well known painters, left for Pittsburgh, to enter the employ of the Robertson Preschool Co.

A. A. Higgins, of the Xenia Shoe Co., left on a trip through southern Ohio.

PUEBLO AIDS MUSICIANS. Pueblo, Colo.—As an aid to unemployment, the City of Pueblo will hire twenty-five otherwise unemployed musicians to play in a band that will present concerts in the city parks this summer.

JUNK BUSINESS IN SLUMP. NEWTON, Mass.—Thirteen junk dealers have petitioned the aldermen to reduce their license fees from $10 to $2. They described business conditions in their line as "desperate."
